Montreal-based design team Danielle Martin and Pao Lim bring a sophisticated and affordable collection of holiday dresses to Canadian retail giant Reitmans. The husband and wife duo have been named the design team to watch since they debuted their first collection in Spring 2011, and these dresses are confirmation of just that.

The collection, which includes select plus-sized and petite styles, draws inspiration from architecture bringing colour-blocking and structured lines to the clothes, with a hint of the '50s. From high shine to sophisticated fabrications, these modern holiday dresses can move from day into the evening with the addition of the right accessories. Find the collection in select Reitmans locations in Ontario and Quebec, as well as online, starting November 1.
