

$2<sup>99</sup>
SPECIAL

CANADA

MARCH 2012

ELLE
STYLE

18-karat rose-gold brown and rose-cut white diamond earrings, Classic Creations ($7,300, classiccreations.com)

Pierced heart earrings in pink-gold-plated silver, pearls and enamel, Delfina Delettrez ($1,020, at saksfifthavenue.com)

Tiffany 1837 Rubedo cluster necklace in Rubedo and sterling silver, Tiffany & Co. ($10,500, tiffany.com); Tiffany 1837 Rubedo padlock charm inscribed with founder's signature, Tiffany & Co. ($635, tiffany.com)

{ JEWEL BOX }
ROUGE ALLURE

Spring's best jewels have a ROSE-GOLD hue.

TEXT: ALANNAH O'NEILL

Papillon ring in pink-gold-plated silver, Delfina Delettrez ($260, at saksfifthavenue.com)

Small cone bracelet in rose-gold-plated sterling silver, Eddie Borgo ($825, at bergdorfgoodman.com)

{ SPOTLIGHT }
RED DAWN

Tiffany & Co. makes bauble history.

This season, the company best known for its little blue boxes is seeing red. It's the 175th anniversary of Tiffany & Co., and to celebrate the occasion, it has invented a new metal. Yes, you read that right: Tiffany's has invented a brand spanking new alloy that marries gold, silver and copper. It's called Rubedo, which means "redness" in Latin. The word "rubedo" is also used to describe the highest achievement in alchemy—when matter and spirit are fused together to create something of unparalleled beauty. If Tiffany's has anything to say on the matter, the future of jewellery certainly looks rosy.

WE'RE CHARMED!

Dip your toes into the rose-gold trend with the Gc Sport Class XL-S Glam watch from the Precious Collection.

Adorned with 18 diamonds and a sapphire crystal, this luxe timepiece is the perfect way to add a bit of sparkle (and shine!) to your day ($1,395, gcwatches.com).

Tiffany 1837 Rubedo cuff inscribed with founder's signature, Tiffany & Co. ($9,350, tiffany.com)