

Men & Wedding Bands: How to Help Him Commit

Share Like +1

Though we get that most men in Canada don't wear engagement rings, we had some questions when it came to helping him select a wedding band. We spoke with Andrea Hopson, Vice President, Tiffany & Co. Canada about how to ensure your guy gets the right ring, and what exactly he might be looking for.

Do you find men are interested in their wedding band, or do women often pick them out?

While the bride will certainly have a point of view, we find most grooms are very clear on what they are looking for and express a genuine interest in the options as they recognize the significance of the selection and what it represents.

Any safety measures men should take if they work with their hands while wearing a band?

It is our experience that men rarely remove their wedding bands in the course of their professional and recreational life. That being said, we would always recommend that consideration be given to the removal of precious metals if the wearer anticipates working with chemicals, abrasive and/or heavy solid materials. It is an important consideration and should be discussed with the sales professional.

What are some of the most popular styles for men? Is there a particular metal preference for men?

Men today have very discerning taste and select their metal and style based on a number of factors which can include the desire to match the metal of their spouse or their current watch/jewelry. Although platinum remains the most popular metal choice...we offer many options in multiple widths and styles including some elegant options that include diamonds.

What's the most important thing to remember when looking at purchasing a luxury item like a wedding ring?

When you are choosing a piece of jewelry to mark one of the most significant days of your life, choose a style and quality that will endure. For many this may be the only jewelry they will wear.
