

MONDAY, MARCH 11, 2013

{Style} Dear Canada...

Well it's official — Canadians across the land can rejoice in the knowledge that they can finally shop from Zara online. It's been a longtime coming (trust me, I used to live in a Zara-free city) and now we all can enjoy access no matter where we live... Hurray!

I was lucky enough to test out the site before it launched last week, and not only did I delight over their amazing spring offerings, but my package arrived — get this — three days after I placed my order! Let's just say a new obsession is born...

Happy Monday, lovelies! xx