

FIELDGUIDED

7.3.13

DEAR CANADA

As you may have heard, Zara now offers Canadians the ability to shop online. They sent me a gift card and an invitation to shop a few days before the official launch date, which was yesterday, and I picked out a few pieces in anticipation of our trip to New York at the end of the month (the floral jacket below, some trousers, and a blouse; comfort above all!). I haven't been able to buy new clothes in a while so it was a pretty fun mini shopping spree. It was hard to narrow down my selections, though! Here are a few things from their site that I really like.

