Zara Canada Online Shop

Posted by Girls Of T.O. on March 4, 2013 in Fashion

We don't think anyone's wallets are ready for March 6th!

We are just a few days away from Zara Canada's online shopping debut and after getting a sneak peek of the shopping experience, this new venture has definitely been worth the wait!

It has been music to our ears ever since we heard one of our favourite stores would now have an online shopping destination. There is nothing like shopping online and then realizing it is not offered in Canada. Now, not only do we get to shop Zara online, but it comes with benefits like shipping to the store instead of your home, and even the ability to return an online purchase to a store location. Even picking up your return straight from your home! That's convenience at its best!

I had the chance to shop before March 6 and (so far) I've grabbed these two classic must-haves. After shopping Zara at Fairview Mall this weekend as well, it's safe to say that Zara is one of my favourite places to shop for affordable and chic pieces.

Are you just as excited as we are for the launch?
