The Biker Jacket

jacket - c/o Zara, jeans - Hudson, purse - Rebecca Minkoff, boots - Spring, scarf - H & M, sunglasses - Jessica Simpson

This is the jacket I got from Zara Canada online, also seen here. It's kind of military-chic-meets-biker chick, don't you think? Speaking of bikers, D. announced that he's getting a motorcycle in the near future which I'm not really happy about, to be honest. (Boys and their toys!) It's because I don't have a great track record with motorcycles. They're dangerous!! I actually fell off of a little dirt bike, landed on the road and broke my arm driving one when I was thirteen. I literally had to be peeled off the road and taken to the hospital. It was my fault, I was distracted by cute boys and I was driving it around the bend near our cabin and almost ran into a tree, instead of putting on the brake I put the gas on - all the way- and then the brake right after. I literally flew off. I ended up in a sling for 9 weeks! NINE WEEKS! It was torture. Hopefully D. will be much safer than I was. And if I have enough guts to get on his motorcycle with him, I'll be wearing this jacket, a helmet and a body pad ;).

Have a great week, guys!

Marie xoxo
