Zara launching online shop in Canada March 6

It's true, it's really true! You don't need to click your heels three times to hear the news that's already hit the web a few short days ago.

Zara will finally launch an online shop for Canadians on March 6! I received a little package in the mail the other day confirming the rumours. So mark the date in your calendar, get your credit cards ready, bookmark <http://www.zara.com> in your browser and do finger exercises to click yourself to an online shopping extravaganza!
