Happy Monday! Did you all have a good weekend? I'm happy to report that we made some decorating progress in our home. Our gallery wall in the living room is half-way complete! I just need to buy more frames and get some photos printed, but the layout is done, and half of the frames are hung, woo hoo!! I also need to get a painting framed, so depending on how long that takes, I think that we'll probably finish it by the end of the week? Let's hope so!

Besides being happy for finally getting those frames up, I'm soooo excited that this Wednesday Zara will be opening their online doors to Canada! I don't know about you, but lately I find that I like a lot of their clothes, especially the shoes, ohhh the shoes! The shoe selection is fantastic! I own two pairs of pumps and let me tell you that they are really comfortable, plus the prices are not ridiculously expensive like everything is here.

I'm hoping to add one of these (maybe two?) and a pair of shoes soon.

PS: as you can see, I love my neutrals ;)
