

SHOP

WEEKLY SHOE

The late Alexander McQueen never found an item he couldn't make better by putting a skull on it. Three years after his death, macabre chic still lives on in these orange smoking slippers with a subtle glitter skull. They're dead-on. $645 at Holt Renfrew.

Leanne Delap

IN RETAIL NEWS

> Girls' club

Blogger Leandra Medine famously wrote about her preference for clothes that girls like in spite of their low sex appeal. That led to Mendocino's new Man Repeller collaboration: She teamed up with PJK out of L.A. to create her motorcycle jacket with a scrim of peplum or long, leg-hiding silk maxi skirts.

> Even faster fashion

Spanish store Zara (zara.ca) has launched its e-commerce in Canada. The site offers the complete array of goodies found in store, so you can keep up with the blink-and-miss-it turnover from your sofa.